

Charles Duncan
Vice President

Charles Duncan has 17 years of water industry experience and is a nationally recognized expert in water system and facility planning. Since 2002, Mr. Duncan has served as the Office Manager for WYA's Pleasanton, CA office and has grown this office by more than 200 percent. As Vice President he will continue his role as Office Manager and will also oversee WYA's corporate financial operations.

John Goodwin
Vice President

John Goodwin has 22 years of experience in the planning, design, and rehabilitation of infrastructure projects for water and wastewater systems. He is a Northern California technology leader in trenchless construction and rehabilitation techniques. Mr. Goodwin has also recently been promoted to Office Manager for WYA's headquarters in Davis, CA. Mr. Goodwin will continue to focus on business development, project management, and client service.

Jeff Pelz
Vice President

Jeff Pelz has 20 years of industry experience and is a leader in wastewater facilities planning and design. He joined WYA in 1990 as the firm's first full-time engineering employee and currently serves as a senior manager for the firm's wastewater program, overseeing engineering projects from the Davis, CA office. In his role as Vice President, Mr. Pelz has also taken on a firm-wide operations management role and will lead firm-wide strategic planning.

"We continue to build an extraordinarily talented team of leaders at West Yost Associates. These new leaders are experts in their technical fields; are focused on client service; and have shown leadership both internally with staff and externally with our clients. Their focus on excellence, collaboration, and hard work will serve our firm and our clients well in the years to come."
— Bruce West, President
